MASSACHUSETTS ADVOCATES FOR CHILDREN YOUNG ADULT LEADERS FELLOWSHIP

YOUNG ADULTS WITH INTELLECTUAL DISABILITIES OR/AND AUTISM

Massachusetts Advocates for Children (MAC) Young Adult Leaders Fellowship application deadline: February 15, 2017.

MAC invites young adults 18-26 with Intellectual Disability or/and ASD to apply for a state-of-the-art Young Adult Leaders Fellowship that offers an opportunity to learn the professional skills needed to advocate on behalf of other youth with disabilities. The Young Adult Leaders Fellowship involves a one year part-time advocacy training under the direction of the Autism Center public information specialist and senior attorney. A small stipend is provided.

The Young Adult Leaders Fellowship will include working with and learning from MAC staff as they conduct MAC's three core advocacy and training activities, including advocacy for individual students, legislative and policy advocacy, and training for parents and professionals. In addition to office tasks, the Fellowship will also include active participation in a range of advocacy and training activities with close direction and leadership (for example testifying at the State House, co-presenting at trainings, attending IEP meetings). It will be helpful if the Fellow is able to use Word, Excel and other office computer programs or is willing to learn computer applications. The Fellow will also be expected to work on the MAC database and on other office duties in addition to attending educational IEP Team meetings, policy meetings at the State House, and trainings for parents and professionals.

It is expected that after a period of job shadowing in each advocacy and training activity area, and with additional training from MAC staff, the Fellow will participate in meetings bringing their unique viewpoint as consumers of special education services and supports.

The Fellowship will provide:

- Training and work experience at MAC for one year under the supervision of a MAC attorney and MAC's Autism Center public information specialist
- Opportunities to learn and perform key office tasks
- Participation in meetings with schools, legislators and parent groups to bring their unique viewpoint as self-advocates
- Opportunities to learn and experience working in an office and to practice and learn appropriate social skills for the workplace
- Natural supports in the workplace including peer mentoring from MAC law school student interns
- Small stipend
- Consultation from the Institute for Community Inclusion to Fellowship staff
- Some knowledge of and experience with knowledge of computers is expected

The Fellowship Does Not Provide:

1:1 Job coaching, travel training, and 1:1 support in the workplace. Although ability to be independent in the workplace is an important consideration in choosing a fellow, MAC welcomes the opportunity to work with established job coaches.

The Fellowship will begin in April 2017, Application Deadline is February 15, 2017

For questions and/or to send information contact Leslie Hughes, Mass Advocates for Children

MAC staff will select the Fellow from applications submitted. Preference will be given to a young adult with intellectual disability or/and ASD who possesses some knowledge, experience, and/or awareness of advocacy and the special education process and who shows an interest in working collaboratively with co-workers in shared office space. MAC is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to a diverse, welcoming and safe workplace.
